

Daniel Island Academy Announces Kindergarten Teachers

DANIEL ISLAND, South Carolina (July 22, 2011) – Daniel Island Academy announced the addition of Caroline Lawrimore and Madeline Preble to the school’s staff to lead the Kindergarten Program beginning with the 2011-12 School Year.

Since 2007, Ms. Lawrimore taught kindergarten at an elementary school in Newport News, Virginia, and previously taught in a pre-kindergarten program for three years. She graduated from Bishop England High School on Daniel Island in 2000, and earned her Bachelor of Science in Early Childhood Education from Presbyterian College in 2004. Her credentials include a certificate in “Teaching Students with Gifts and Talents” and in the use of classroom technology in teaching young students.

“I am thrilled to return to my home state of South Carolina and to have the opportunity to work for Daniel Island Academy,” stated Lawrimore. “It is incredibly rewarding to teach young children. My goal is to help each one of my students explore their talents while creating a sound base for their education for years to come.”

Madeline Preble will join Lawrimore in leading the Kindergarten program. Ms. Preble earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Early Childhood Education from the College of Charleston. Previously, she was the head teacher for the Pre-Kindergarten Program at the University of Stanford, Palo Alto, California. She guided children in an exceptional curriculum, which included math and science, reading & language, and arts and dramatic play. Ms. Preble has studied French, and enjoys many hobbies, including photography and swimming, having competed from pre-school age through high school on swim team.

Daniel Island Academy’s Kindergarten Program offers an exceptional 1:9 teacher-to-student ratio, with a curriculum offering a strong emphasis on reading, writing, math, art, and foreign language skills. The program includes a Spanish language lab, offered twice weekly, and special instruction in art, music, and creative movement weekly. Additionally, a SmartBoard™ and computer stations are utilized in the large, well-appointed classroom. Daniel Island Academy is an early childhood education center offering full time, part time, and mother’s morning out programs.
